INCREASES LIMITS OF HUNGARIAN RR CARLOAD CAPACITY

To cope with the peak fall traffic, the Hungarian State Railroads have increased, by 10 percent, the limits of the load capacity of the railroad freight cars. The new regulations, which will be in effect until the end of 1951, are applicable only for inland traffic, and only cars marked MAV (Hungarian State Railroads) which passed inspection less than 3 years ago can be used for the increased loads.

Railroad officials are confident that adherence to the new regulations will result in a considerable decrease of shipping expenses.
